Collection Scope and Content Summary

The Class of 1971 Oral History Collection contains 17 oral histories of individuals who were part of Barnard College's class of 1971. Included in the collection are transcripts, audio recordings, and video recording of interviews. The oral histories discuss the experiences of students at Barnard contextualized within the social and cultural history of the time period. Narrators also discuss their individual life histories, including their paths leading to Barnard and their lives after college. Themes common across interviews include female friendship, feminism, political involvement during and after their time at Barnard College, issues of race and class among students at Barnard, and romance.

Collection Arrangement

Collection is presently arranged into three folders: Barnard Class of 1971 Audio Files, Barnard Class of 1971 Final Transcripts, and Barnard Class of 1971 Video Files. Transcripts are organized by last name. Final transcripts will be provided to researchers via the archives site and digital collections.
