Historical Background

Divest Barnard is an organization actively working to encourage the Barnard College administration to divest its endowment from fossil fuel companies. Divest Barnard was founded in 2014 and held its first meeting on February 20, 2015. In December of 2015, the Barnard Board of Trustees voted to establish the Presidential Task Force to Examine Divestment on which Divest Barnard sits. In April 2016, students from both Barnard and Columbia occupied the office of Columbia University President Lee Bollinger calling for divestment of the Columbia University endowment from fossil fuel companies. Divest Barnard is placed within a long history of activism at Barnard including prior divestment movements such as the Apartheid divestment movement in the 1980s and the current prison divestment movement. Divest Barnard seeks to bring awareness to not only the investment in fossil fuel companies but also the injustices faced by marginalized women, which are exacerbated by climate change.
